TRAVELOGUE EGYPT

Through the Eyes of a Western Woman

by award-winning author Dulce Rodrigues

In EGYPT THROUGH THE EYES OF A WESTER WOMAN author Dulce Rodrigues tries to share with the reader, or future-to-be traveler her own impressions about Egypt: its monuments as she saw them; its legends as she heard them; the native people she met, their usages and customs; how they interacted with foreign people and with women in general.

The book is a written account of how today's Egyptians feel and care about their cultural heritage...

While passing on to the reader her own impressions, Dulce compares social-cultural traits and traditions and delivers her own engaged opinion on the world we live in today... a world full of contradictions, hypocrisy and inequities... as seen through the eyes of a Western Woman.

The author's impressions are still a timely record that as well explains the reasons of the political conflicts that started in January 2011 in the country.

About the Author

Award-winning Dulce Rodrigues is the happy grandmother of two lovely little girls. She has authored six children's books published in several languages (including Chinese), two travelogues, and a novel. She also has contributions in international anthologies and writes in newspapers and magazines. She speaks six living languages and translates most of her own books. Born and raised in Lisbon, Portugal, Dulce Rodrigues received a scholarship to study at the Goethe-Institut in Germany, and one for a scientific course with the Open University in the UK, and wound up living in many different countries around Europe. Now retired after a career that included working for NATO and as a translator for the U.S. Military, she currently lives in Belgium and Portugal. She was awarded a few literary prizes: while the Honourable Mention awarded at the 2013 Hollywood Book Festival came from the US, eight other prizes came from Europe, including Honourable Mention at the 2013 London Book Festival. A few of her kids' plays were performed in countries in Europe. In addition to writing she enjoys travelling, gardening, photography, music, and pets. She also has a passion for History and for all forms of Art that transmit Beauty. She created the children's website www.barry4kids.net (in four languages).
